About the presenter: Kurt Guner is currently working on his Ph.D in History while holding a graduate fellow position at the University of Utah’s Center for Teaching and Learning Excellence (CTLE). His research is focused on the relationship between Turkey and the United States after the Second World War. While he enjoys research, teaching is his true passion and being involved with CTLE has had a dramatic impact on his philosophy as an instructor and his professional goals. He has worked hard to address diversity and inclusivity issues, creating an inclusivity workshop at the University of Utah’s Annual Teaching Symposium and including discussions of race, class, and gender in all of his classes.
